DESCRIPTION OF FEES

Certificate Enrollment Fee

Students pursuing ministry or career certificates are charged for the course of study they are interested in. The fee applies the first semester a student enrolls in the certificate and covers the advising and instruction cost for those studies.

Change of Program Fee

After completing 60 hours, students who change their degree or ministry program will be charged this fee to begin their new course of study.

Change of Schedule Fee

Students who add a course, drop a course, or change sections of a course are charged a flat fee for changing their schedule.

Course Retake Fee

Students who drop or fail a course will be charged an hourly fee when they retake it. This charge is applied the second time a course is taken.

Graduation Fees

When completing a degree, a student is charged for the expenses of a diploma and commencement. A diploma fee is charged for a reprinted diploma.

Incomplete Registration Fee

Returning students have until July 1 to complete their schedule, confirm their Residence Hall status, and pay a $200 non-refundable deposit either through personal funds, financial aid, or other verified funding source(s). Otherwise they will be charged the incomplete registration fee.

Incoming students have until August 1 to complete required forms and pay their deposit to avoid being charged this fee.

Independent Study Fee

Students registered for independent studies pay an hourly rate, unless they do not receive the full-tuition scholarship, in which case they pay tuition.

Late Registration

Students who start the registration process after 3:00 pm on the last day of registration are charged per credit enrolled for late registration.

Matriculation Fee

Students who enroll at Central for the first time are charged the matriculation fee at registration. It covers set-up of student records and financial aid, academic inventories, academic scheduling, transcript evaluation, and guidance to develop a plan of study towards a degree.

Online Courses

Online courses are available, both taught by Central faculty and by teachers with several partnerships that the College has entered.

Private Music Instruction

As space is available, students may choose to take private piano, guitar, voice, or organ lessons. These may be taken for credit or audit.

Reactivation Fee

Students returning to Central after two or more consecutive semesters of non-enrollment are charged to re-establish their enrollment and scholarship.

Residence Hall Charges

Residence Hall students are charged room & board to cover the cost of housing, utilities, and 16 meals per week in the cafeteria. Students can choose to pay an additional fee if space availability allows for a double- or single-occupancy room.

Semester Fees

The semester fees cover a wide range of student services for students who are enrolled in classroom courses, whether living in a Residence Hall or off-campus. These include Library usage (and limited printing), intercollegiate and intramural sports, college e-mail account, personal mailbox, expenses for student-led ministries, attendance at various banquets, student identification card, parking permit, admission to most College events, the cost of one CCCB online course, and computer lab access. Semester fees for online students cover access to online resources and technical support.

Tuition Charges

A fixed charge for tuition is applied to the bill of all full-time students. Part-time students are charged an hourly tuition rate. Degree and certificate students who qualify for the full-tuition scholarship will receive a credit equal to the amount of tuition applied to their account. At registration, students who do not qualify for the full-tuition scholarship must pay any tuition charges due.
