

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN

COLLEGE OF THE BIBLE

BIBLICAL RESEARCH

This program is designed to make the student intimately familiar with the original languages the Bible was written in. The graduate leaves with the ability to read and research the text thoroughly and apply this deepened understanding to a variety of ministries and careers, such as preaching ministry, Bible translation, and teaching.

Just about any kind of ministry is open to a Bible Research major.

This program is for you if:

- You want to understand the biblical text in its original context
- You enjoy researching as a way to deepen your interactions with scripture
- You want to leave with the ability to apply a more thorough understanding of the Bible to a variety of ministries

The Biblical Research program is a four year major or can be added as a minor in which a student is challenged to go deeper into God's Word. Besides additional Bible and theology courses, additional work in classes like Biblical Backgrounds and Hebrew and Greek will aid the student to accurately handle the Word of truth. The program includes a capstone paper which is presented at a colloquium for students and faculty.

Other educational experiences have included: lectures on archaeology at MU, visiting a synagogue, touring a Greek Orthodox church, the Stone-Campbell conference, and the regional Society of Biblical Literature conference.

Further information can be found with the Program Director.
